“ I lived next door to the Simmons' family for many years. Kevin was the last to leave the family home. He was always polite, respectful, and had a smile. After leaving, he would return to see those who were out and stop to talk. He was always noticing and commenting on the changes of residents and would notice the differences since his last visit. It is where he grew up and he had many memories. Kevin was a hard worker and found satisfaction in his work, and he couldn't say enough about his girls. He was a loving father, husband, and friend. I miss his earthly presence and many do. You can't forget that smile!
Many lives were blessed and made better for having you in their lives. You will not be forgotten.

“ Where do I begin?! Our friendship started when we were little and continued on into our 40s. Every time I visited my grandparents on Robin road, my Papaw would bring me down there so we could all play. We always had so much fun playing in that little canal thing by yalls house. During our teenage years, we hung out from time to time with mutual friends and even became family for several years in our 20s. And it didn't end there. You and your sweet wife moved in right across the street from us last year! I have really enjoyed reminiscing over the past years that we missed out on and making new memories. I'll never forget us hustling to get those sand bags folded so we could light the candles in time for Light the Night last year. I am really going to miss you dude!! Love you! Shari Williams

“ The Simmons family, Candy w/children were our neighbors for a long time, Mary and Steve Weddle. After Candy, Kevin, Kenny and Becky all moved away, Kevin never forgot us. We would be out in the yard and Kevin would always stop and lovingly take time to talk and see how we were doing. Kevin was such a nice and loving young man. His respect and concern for us will always be revered. RIP my friend. We listened to Eric Clapton's Tears in Heaven in Honor of Kevin. We have them now but when we are blessed to see Kevin again there will definitely not be any Tears in Heaven.

“ i can not for the life of me believe that your gone. i know we didn't always see eye to eye but we are still family. truly we are more than family being double first cousins made us more like brothers. me you Greg Kenny and Becky all share that bond. its a bond that even tho you are gone it can never be broken. we will miss, and morn for you in the days to come, but we have many many memories to carry us through. the stories that could be told of us growing up. i know you, your dad and our granddads are up there ripping lips on those big bass in that heavenly pond. rest easy cuz. till i see you again.
