Born in New York City, Addison was the beloved daughter of Pamela Hope Foladare-Wishart and Christopher Anthony Wishart-Moore. She was their precious angel, who's brief life had an extraordinary impact on all who knew her. Addison bravely fought through many struggles of health complications since her birth. The strength and resilience she exhibited in overcoming adversity was inspiring. Addison brought true joy to others with her sweet, yet spirited personality. She was continuously happy, full of life, always knew exactly what she wanted and was happy to tell you what it was. Addison loved singing, dancing and pretending to be Disney princesses. She was not only charismatic, she was smart and had a Christ-like, caring heart. Addison recently began 4 year old kindergarten and was quick to tell others that she was now a “big girl,” however, to mom and dad, she will forever be their “baby girl.”

In addition to her parents, survivors include her siblings, Mason, Cayden and Christopher, Jr.; her grandparents, Donna and Allen, Sharon and Michael; great-grandparents, Loraine and Christopher, Serani and Ruben, Barbara, and Cecil; her aunties, Kaitlin, Gabrielle, Adrianna, Samantha, Stephanie, Usha, Stacey and Sina; her uncles, Delroy Michael, Seon, Randy and Chris; cousins, Milo, Raphael, Ethan, Amari, Xavier, Shawn, Aaron and Shawn.

Pallbearers will be Delroy, Eon, Allen, Michael, Shawn, Uncle Chris and her grandfather Michael.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to the Children’s Hospital of Georgia, www.augustahealth.org/childrens-hospital-of-georgia/
