It's been a while back, but I happened upon Irby's business as I traveled back and forth with my lawn care business servicing churches. He was always worthy of a stop, and often went out of his way to help me keep my trailers in good shape. Although my connection with him was a business one, I did feel a friendship and spiritual connection and will miss him, although it has been years since I retired. I hope Irby's family is proud of his service to others.
