“ It's been many years since I last saw Charlie - my sister and I went to church and school with him and his brother and sisters in Savannah, GA, when we were just becoming teenagers. We enjoyed those times when we would go over to their house and hang out, listening to music, giggling and gossiping. I remember one time especially when all of us were jumping on one of their beds, and of course the bed collapsed. Mr.Perryman was annoyed with us, but he let us know in his calm way. I remember Charlie being like his Father - quiet, cool and respectful of other people. He was a nice friend to be around. Savannah High School is having a reunion very soon. I know that Charlie's name is on the honor roll of those who are no longer able to be there, and that he'll be fondly remembered by many people.
