“ I started encountering Beth first in the library at church. I'm sure it annoyed her that every time she came to fulfill her calling there was this weird Rainbow Brite lady from a different congregation, already in there, making copies of music. But she always patiently checked the logs to make sure the copies were properly documented and dutifully verified I wasn't violating copyright and then went about her work. Over time she got used to me and always had a warm smile and a kind word for me. Once someone made the copies for me and Beth came to me after choir practice to say hi and check on the copyright! She was ever-conscientious. Later, when boundary changes moved me into the Grovetown Ward, Beth's presence in the library and familiar sweet smile were the first balm for my socially-anxious soul. Everything was cold and new but Beth was warm and familiar. I will miss her presence and look forward to seeing her welcoming smile to lend some familiarity to a new experience the next time I am blessed to see her.
