“Daddy, It's your little girl here... missing you way more than I ever in a million years would have realized. You have always been my hero... I have had the hardest rude awakenig with your unchangable absense. It's truey amazing how people take life and love for granite. I can say that I am selfish, because I wish you were still here. I just wish that a miracle would have taken your cancer away. Life in itself is a wild adventure... but life with you in it, Daddy... all I can say is what a phenominal journey. I have had the honor to talk to your friends on paltalk. I now understand why you loved it so much. You know the two of us have a world of things in common. OUR Hearts wanted to be loved in the same way, our dreams soared the most magical skies, and the love we had for others was limitless, even though never seen by some. We are very miss understood by many and loved by just as many more... we just don't realize it. Daddy, I miss you so much. I miss our serious heart to hearts, I miss our morocycle rides with the wind blowing through our hair, I miss how you made me feel like a princess to all of your friends and coworkers and when ever I questioned myself, you were there to pick me up. You saw the things that I didn't want to and warned me... Daddy nothing could have prepared me for this...I have found out so much more about you that inspires me to keep following my heart and make my dreams a reality. I learned from the best to be my best... I love you more than you ever truley realized... I know that in my heart. Just like I know that you love me more than I ever even knew you could love... what I couldn't see before I see now. Daddy, I just wish I could have one more hug... one more kiss.. one more movie... one more song... one more laugh, one more cry... one more shot to show you I love you with ALLOF MY HEART! I amso broken in spirit... I am told time will heal that pain... I just can't believe that I really can't just pick up the phone and check up on you, or come cry on your shoulder over my mid-20's life drama, or fall asleep in your arms while watching a movie and feel like I would always be daddys little girl in your big arms. I haven't quite figured out how to move forward with this, or how to make it seem completely real and be okay with that truth... Daddy...daddy... daddy... If I never told you... YOU ARE THE WORLDS GREATEST

DAD, your were one of my best friends, and you made some very big shoes for my soulmate to fill. I just wish that you would have been able to stay long enough to walk your baby girl down the aisle and give her to one that you feel was meant to be. You did give your approval, To the only man who has ever asked you for my hand in marriage out of many... so we will see how that goes. I promise that I will always love you with ever beat of my heart... I pray that I will see you again some day, and if I don't just know that I will always be looking. No one else gives hugs quite like you... but Aunt Judy is pretty close. I love you Daddy... and always will....I miss you more than words... I hope heaven is were you are... thats were I want to be...I love you...

Love Always, the one you named...

Nikki, always to be daddy's little girl.##imported-begin##Kristin Nicole Schoenfelder##imported-end##

“ Well, today's my birthday, & everything's going OK, but I sure do wish Fred was here with me. While we were together, he often joked that sooner or later, most likely sooner, I would get tired of him or that he would do something really stupid to make me say "Next!" He'd be very surprised to know that even though he's been gone for almost 4 months now, it seems like I miss him more & more instead of less & less. He literally left some big shoes to fill, and all the prospective Nexts seem very lacking in comparison, in so many ways. I just miss him every day and think of him even when good things are happening, because I know I'd enjoy them more if I could share them with him. He's still in my heart, that's for sure, and always will be.##imported-begin##Crystal##imported-end##

“ Fred, you will be missed dearly. Your deep, calm, soothing voice made an impression on all. You didn't say too much, but when you did it was profound & thought provoking. I will always remember how adorable you looked when you napped on cam, it brings a smile to my face still. You always made others feel safe, warm & helped to make all of life's troubles a thing of the past even for just a moment in time. You will always be in my thoughts. My deepest sympathies to your family. I knew Fred from PalTalk, but even in just that venue it brought him close to others. He looked out for us ladies in the room & calmed the storms that popped in from time to time. That's the best way to describe Fred, the calm before & after the storm. Keep a look out for us, Fred. “ Dear Dick, April, Nikki and family,

I am so sorry for your loss. I didn't make the connection and realize that I knew your son and grandchildren from years ago at OLP.

I remember Fred very well. Fred was a great guy and I know everyone will miss him terribly. He was so full of life. He loved his girls - that was very evident.

Everytime you retell a funny story or anecdote about Fred, you bring him back into your company.

May the peace of the Lord fill and sustain you through this tough time.###imported-begin###Wendy Paschal###imported-end##

“ How can mere words say what is in my grieving heart oh brother. Life is so precious and so much seemed to go unsaid between us. To think I will never get to hug you or hear your voice again is overwhelming. I must trust God to help us all accept that you are where you are supposed to be and where we hope to join you someday. As much as it hurts to know you are gone and that you went so quickly, I am so thankful you did not suffer. I am extremely thankful for the 49 short days we had after your diagnosis of cancer to be there with you through each step of the way supporting you, caring for you, hugging you, and loving you the best way we could. How special it has been to see the words from all your friends and just how you touched them and left your footprint in their lives. There is a hole in my heart that will in time be filled with a richness from my memories of our life together. Good bye my dear brother and thank you for letting us help you carry this last trial in your life. You will always be with us. Thank you God for Fred's life and the promise that we will be with you one day.##imported-begin##Judy (Fred's sister)##imported-end##

“ I am so very sorry to hear that Mr. Fred passed away on April 3. I would have signed the guestbook earlier, but I was just told about his passing, today, 18 April. I knew Mr. Fred from online on the computer, in Paltalk, and I will miss Mr. Fred so very much. He knew me by my nickname 'thunderwoman1'. I also heard Mr. Fred was sick with cancer, but he never told me, and I never once heard him complain about being sick or being in pain. He was indeed a wonderful man and he was my friend. I love you, Mr. Fred. I know you are with Jesus now, and you will have no more pain. God bless you and your entire family. You will surely be missed.

“ *My sweet Fred, there is so much that I loved about you and that I miss, but it is comforting to hear that so many others were appreciative of the qualities that made you so special to me....honest and genuine, intelligent, kind, funny & fun, considerate, sensitive and always looking for ways to be helpful. Like in James Blunt's song "Goodbye My Lover," you said you'd spend a lifetime with me, & I guess you did, although your life was ended much too soon. “ I heard the news today that I have lost one of my dearest and most treasured friends. I was blessed to be the first person to ever meet Fred from online. We spent the most glorious weekend together on the bike, he took me all over North and South Carolina and Georgia when I flew down from NH. We went to Asheville .. we went to meet some other cherished friends Judy etc .. it was the trip of a lifetime. I KNOW how much of a gentleman Fred was and is and how many lives he touched. A CLASS ACT and I miss you already my friend, but I know someday we will ride again .. you are forever in my heart and soul and I love you and will miss you deeply, that voice on the mic telling people of our visit and always laughing about the silly times we had .. treasured memories, and to your children, your father loved you so very very much and was incredibly proud of you all. Cherish that, I wish I still had alot of the photos we took but lost them a few years ago in a move, should you stumble upon them please email me. Fred you were an angel to me and I will meet you on the otherside my friend.. you will be deeply missed but always cherished.

Later, Freddy and I became friends at North Augusta high and were reacquainted when I conducted the wedding of his neice. He recognized me first. “ A special smile, a special face,
A special person you can't replace...
Many people remember you as a teacher;
You influenced and encouraged generations on Paltalk,
Many remember you for your Santa Claus & Fred Flintstone room;
For your prized motorcycle and your sweet smile underneath those biker sunglasses.
I remember you as a soft spoken strong man.
As somebody always there for us in Paltalk.
As somebody whose kindness and generosity will never be forgotten.
Above all, I remember you as a friend.

We used to laugh
We were best of friends
I thought that's how it would always be
You taught me so much

“ To say I will miss you doesn't come close to what I am feeling. I will always cherish the time we shared when I came to Augusta those times. Especially the Christmas visit, and how you spent hours showing me all the lights. Some of those people had way too much time on their hands. I treasure the walks down by the river and "the bridge" you loved so much. Guess we will have to visit the "Regal 20" when we meet again. I loved your laugh even when you were laughing at some of the silly things I did. I will always be happy to help you with your feet when you let them go, which you seemed to do alot. I loved being your Number 1 Elf on Paltalk and how all the kids loved it. All the memories come flooding back so often. When you sent that last message to me I couldn't answer, I am sorry but words wouldn't come to me. I will always love you and miss you so much, but I carry you in my heart and think of you every day. Thank you for the beautiful light you brought into my life. I will always be your "Dovie" and will never forget like you told me. I am so sorry for your family's loss and the worlds loss. “ Fred was one of a kind a person that would do anything to help someone Fred only came once in a life time a true person that so many good times we spent together on just talking about life when i found out Fred passed away i was in a shock this is hard thing so i want to say im sorry for the lost for his family and friends one day we shall meet back up with Fred above with no sorrow hurt or pain there is a poem i would like to share here because i think Fred would want you all to know this as he shared it with me about 11 months ago.

MISS ME - BUT LET ME GO

*When I come to the end of the road
And the sun has set for me
I want no rites in a gloom - filled room
Why cry for a soul set free?
Miss me a little, but not too long,
And not with your head bowed low.
Remember the love that we once shared,
Miss me but let me go.*

*For this is a journey that all must take,
And each must go alone.
It's all a part of the Master's plan
A step on the road to home.
When you are lonely and sick at heart,
Go to the friends we know,
And bury your sorrows in doing good deeds,
Miss me, but let me go.##imported-begin##Charles Smith Jr

I am very shocked to hear of Fred passing away, when I saw the message by the side of his nic name on paltalk today, my first thought was that it was his father that had died, then it struck me, I burst into tears, Fred was always kind to me, a lovely man, I have a conversation saved that we had when he had 21 papers to grade. he told me this:-

Janet_in_England: thats near the Poconos people go there for honeymoons fredflinstone_5: yes.... the poconos are lovely

Janet_in_England: how many more papers do you have to do ?

fredflinstone_5: I reckon I won't get any sleep tonight

fredflinstone_5: back is beginning to ache now fredflinstone_5: I dare not lean back.. I may go to sleep...LOL

Janet_in_England: how long is it till you have to go to work ?

fredflinstone_5: 2 hrs

fredflinstone_5: gettin another coffee... BRB

“ I have known Fred for the past 25 years. As you all have mentioned, he was a good man. He was my friend, boss, technical advisor and brother-in-law. What a lot of folks don't realize is that Fred was one of the smartest men on the planet. He could solve technical issues that boggled my mind. Many years ago, he helped me work up the nerve to change careers by hiring me. That event led to a career path has allowed me to better provide for my family. I will never forget that and can not thank him enough. Fred loved to fish. He and I used to go night fishing at the lake. I remember going one time in early April and the sky and stars were super clear and breathtaking. I always wondered if Fred liked this beauty as much as the fishing. He had a lot of nick names like “Daddy-Fred”, “Captain Fred”, “Boss-man”, “PhotoBug from that North Augusta Patch”(CB Handle from the early 80's)and many others. I always called him “Fred-rico”. “ Fred was a really great guy. He could sit and listen to your problems or he could make you laugh til you had tears rolling down your face. He was just one of those people, that when he popped into a room on Paltalk, that you instantly got a smile on your face and made sure to greet him in the usual way every single time. I shall miss Fred, truly. He was also a fellow biker and I know right now he is riding that Gold and Silver Harley in the sky, his hair blowing in the wind and all sorts of beautiful angels are waiting for their turn to ride on back of that bike with him. Blessings to the family and friends that actually got to be with Fred in real life. May your souls heal gently from the pain of your loss. Remember he was a good man and is scooting along those clouds right now looking down on you with love and care. He hasn't really left you, he is just waiting for you on the other side. “ My sincerest wishes go out to Fred's family & friends. The world is one star dimmer without Fred in it, but we carry the memory of him in our hearts always. I will always remember him in my heart with a smile, for all the smiles he brought to me. I have never met a man more generous of his self. Always ready with kind words and warm laughter, and always ready to reach out to those in need. I will miss him. He was a good friend to me. I have witnessed him doing "good turns" for others, not for praise, not for recognition, but just because he could. I will carry that on for him, and when I do a good turn for someone.. I will remember Fred and say "this one's for you". Take care of each other and God Bless###imported-begin###Tish (aka Hiding in Sight)###imported-end##

“ I am very saddened at the loss of a wonderful kind and true gentleman who showed great strength and character. It was always a pleasure to have him come into the room I was in on Paltalk. He had a wonderful smile and always said hello to me and told everyone I had sent him a jar of Vegemite from Australia. He was one of the rare and wonderful souls to walk in this life. “ A few weeks ago i wrote a letter that was the hardest i have ever done in my life and i think i said all i wanted to say to Fred himself, I just hope he got to read it.
My heart goes out to his family and if i could i would give the biggest hugg in the world to his daughters who he loved dearly.
Fred was and IS one of the worlds true gentlemen, a person who always had time to give, a man with a big heart and i know if there is a heaven he has the best home waiting for him.
I want to close with a message for everyone reading this
If you love someone tell them now, dont leave it too late because tomorrow never comes and you never know how important time is till it runs out xxxxxx###imported-begin###anna###imported-end##

Fred was a loyal friend, we shared many a good converstion which spread many different topics. He gave the utmost respect to all he came across to talk to. He had the time aand vision to see beyond lifes troubles and strifes. When a cloud shadows your life Freds sunshine smile lit it up again. “ Fred gave me a friendship, Where my feelings were always respected, My troubles were always heard, And my tears never needed an apology.

He had what it took to be a good and loyal friend, and I loved having in my life. He made me happy simply by being who he was.

To each, Fred was something different. To me he was an all weather friend who brought sunshine into my life, when storms were raging all around me.

He soothed me to sleep with my favourite music when I was in pain for many a year and never left my side. Thank you never felt enough for this compassionate loving man.

To me, Those who bloom in the hearts of others never fade away. His voice is now quiet, but his spirit will remain in the mind and hearts of many around the world.

So Fred, When tomorrow starts without you, and we will be apart, I wont think I'll have lost you, Because you remain right here in my heart.

My heart will ache, but I will continue to smile having had the privelage of knowing you sweet man...FOREVER your loving friend##imported-begin##Nikki##imported-end##

“ My name is Shawn "RedRuuustr" Buchholz from Sioux Falls, South Dakota. Fred was a TRULY GREAT MAN, one of a RARE breed of man who was 100% positive energy and friend of anyone who met him in chatrooms. I didn't get to chat with him as much as I wanted. I really wanted to meet him someday and shake his hand. I guess I'll have to wait till I get to the other side to do that. I'll never forget his smile and his voice and his friendly, warm tone welcoming others to speak with him and be pals. Even as a guy buddy, it's MEN like that that other men keep in their hearts for life. He'll always be one of my best male friends online for LIFE!! Fred, I miss you, buddy.
