“ Jaime, I watched you grow up, from a little boy, into a grown man. You were always a part of my family's celebrations, whether it was a birthday, Christmas, Easter, or Thanksgiving, up until a couple of years ago. But I'm sure your Mama Brenda took care of that over those years. You were just like another nephew to me. Every time I saw you out somewhere, I knew I could count on a big bear hug from you and a great big smile that always brightened my day. Even though I never saw you on a daily basis, my world will forever have a crack in it because you are not here. I just hope you know what a special person you were while the Lord allowed everyone you touched to have you in our lives. You will be terribly missed! Love you, sweet boy!!! Looking forward to seeing your sweet face again one day.

“ Jaime Lever...what a hole my heart holds. The day you left things suddenly changed! The shop laughter and sharing of simple life things is missing there now! I'm not going to hear you or see you within the walls of this space. No tapping of hammers or your sweet smiling face! I question the reason you had to leave here so soon. I wonder for moments if I should have seen or heard something sooner. A sign that could help you or a word I could have said! Yet, when I think of your heart and your kind gentle way. I'm reminded that Jaime would not have it that way! Considerate of others and private maybe to a fault but in my book you were always a prince Jaime Lever,! I was so blessed to have you in my life as my dear friend and fellow craftsman. My heart has a hole but my life will forever be enriched by so many of the moments we shared. Happy ones, sad ones and challenging ones! You added so much to each day...quick to smile, eager to help,gentle, constant and kind! Your abilities to craft the most intricate of windows. You are irreplaceable in my book, on so many levels. I always wanted you to see yourself as I saw you! Handsome, smart, strong,witty, talented and a man with the gentle sensitivity of a child! Always a prince among men! RIP Jaime until we see each other again! I miss you so much already but I know you are ok, and that brings a smile! Yes, I promise to keep a check on Chastity, Marvin and Georgia! I love you! Bren DeVaney
