“ Mr. Martin was a kind man with a gentle soul. Always smiling, even when he had to call me into his office, for misbehaving. He was my principal for six years, three at Paul Knox and three at NASH. He was the most loved principal, by all the students, in North Augusta. He has left a great legacy for his family.

“ Jim was my 10th grade history teacher. I was already a history nerd, but he poured gas on that fire. I am pleased he led such a public and influential life. He must have touched thousands.

“ I grew up with Jim and his two brothers in Blackville. Nick was 5 days older than me. So we were babies together and played together until we went our separate ways after high school in Blackville. The Martins were a great family and life long friends of mine. Jim's mother was like a second mother for me and treated me the same as she treated her boys. My condolences to all her share their blood and all who loved them.

“ I was blessed to be hired as a first-year teacher fresh out of college by Mr. Martin. He always had a grin or smile and a kind or funny thing to say. My years at NAHS were my favorite years in teaching and he helped make them so. I still have the notes he wrote to me as well as the wedding gift he gave to Geoff and me. You are surely missed. May you rest in peace of mind and body.

“ Jim worked with my dad, J.O. Willis, at Aiken High. They had such respect for each other. He always sent a Christmas card to my mother after my dad died. Jim was always such a good friend to me. He would ask about my family when we would see one another. I don't believe I saw him after his cancer diagnosis and was so sad to hear his health had deteriorated recently. I will always have such fond memories of him. My sympathy to his family.

“ Jim was a special friend since he was a teacher at Aiken High, a true colleague during our careers in the school district, and a caring presence during retirement years. It's hard to think about not being able to hear his gentle voice or feel the joy of being with him. We are all better for having known him. I send all good thoughts to Jim's beloved family and celebrate the life he shared with us.

“ Mr. Martin was my history teacher at Aiken High School in the 1967-1968 school year. Over 50 years later and the indelible memories of him as a teacher and a person are all good. It was fun to watch his career evolve and to see the success he had as a teacher following him into building and district leadership. My condolences to the family on the passing of this very special man.

“ I do not know any other man as loved as UJ. He was kind, loving, intelligent and funny. He was so much fun to tease. When I made vegetable soup and cornbread, he would always come to Jennifer's to eat. After several bowls of soup, he would search the cabinet for something sweet and then get a few more spoonfuls of soup. As we were packing him some to go he told us that we should keep the leftovers for ourselves but a few days later he would come back for what we had frozen. He was truly one of a kind.

“ Mr. Martin was my favorite teacher that I never had! I begged to be in his class and he knew I had an ulterior motive...my high school boyfriend was in his class. However, we became great friends through the years. My parents were his great friends also. Beyond high school we continued our family friendship. What a wonderful, loving, witty and caring person!!! I will treasure the gift of his friendship forever! My heart is heavy, but I rejoice knowing that he is in his heavenly home 🙏 God bless and Rest In Peace my dear, dear friend 😊
