“ I met Jay in 1986 working at a Quincy's restaurant in Mt Pleasant SC. I was 19 years old and a terrible mess. Addicted to drugs and homeless. Jay not only took me into his home, but also drove me back home to Atlanta, which ultimately saved my life. He went way out of his way for me with absolutely no reward. I honestly don't know if I'd be here to write this if I never met Jay. Thank you Jay and may you rest in peace.

“ I used to walk over to Jay's house when we were in our early teens almost everyday and we would shoot hoops for hours. Always will remember his favorite NBA player was Jerry West. I have so many fond memories and my heart is broken that you are gone but I now your soul is in a better place. God's speed my friend my brother!!

I remember so well having Jay in my English class at PK when he was an 8th grader. He was always such a pleasant student, always smiling.
