“ Jennifer, Military Wife, Pastor's wife, coworker, friend, we miss you! By God's grace, I had the opportunity to know you, to be blessed by your keen, kind, loving spirit. I have heard it said that we are remembered by how we make others feel, not by how much we know, and you really made others (like me) feel important. On a new job, I could count on you for positive remarks and smile, no time for negativity or gossip. This old world groans in sadness over the loss of your bright light. Thanks for offering to visit our daughter and husband there in Jackson, I wish they had been home one of those times. You genuinely cared about people. What an example! You cared "too much, " we might say, but I can hear Jesus say, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant." Love, Priscilla##imported-begin##Priscilla Bence##imported-end##

My family is praying for yours, during this time. May God do for the hearts of you and your children only what He can do: provide peace, assurance, and understanding of His great grace, even in sorrow. Because He is God and because He gave His Son, Jesus Christ, in death for us, He alone can calm and comfort your hearts.

“ Blair,

Your precious family has been a part of my heart and my prayers since the time when you were stationed in Iraq. My husband and I are members of your brother Butch's SS class at CrossPointe and we had constant updates on you from him. At that time I had the privilege of meeting sweet Jennifer in person when your Dad brought her to our office at Green Financial Resources. Glod blessed me with the privilege then of assisting you business wise and that link kept you both in my thoughts and prayers. I know how precious Jennifer was to you and to your children. Today I pray for God's extra special love and compassion to surround your heart and your mind as you walk this difficult time. I pray for God's strength for you and your entire family.

“ Hey Blair and kids. I don't know if you remember me from Heatherwood Baptist Church. I'm Dan Simmone's oldest daughter. I am truly sorry about your loss!! You have been in my thoughts and prayers and will continue to be through your difficult time. The best part of being a Christian is knowing that Jennifer is in a much better place and rejoicing with Jesus. That may not be much comfort but it's what has gotten me through the losses we've had in the last year. Again, I'm truly sorry about your loss. May God bless you through your time of sorrow!! Take care!!

“ Blair,

Jennifer was the most beautiful person inside and out . Looking into her eyes was seeing heaven. Her faithfulness and kindness radiated from her soul to all who knew her. I was so blessed to work with her at Ask A Nurse and have her as my dear friend. God picks special people as His angels,, and she is sitting right beside Him now rejoicing in His love.

May God continue to sustain you and your children during this difficult time of loss. With time may He heal the hurt in your heart and replace it with only beautiful memories of the wonderful person you were so blessed to have as your wife, and the mother of your children. “ Blair, Charlie and Hannah,
We are so saddened by your loss. Words cannot express our shock and sadness. To Charlie and Hannah: You were blessed with a wonderful, Christian mother. You were her gifts from God. Always remember how much she loved you and still does. Though she is not with you now, she will forever be in your heart. To Blair: Jennifer was given to you by God and taken from you by God. Though it is not comforting right now, you will certainly see her again. Her absence will be greatly felt in your heart, but just remember the love in your heart as well. She was a truly talented and loving person. Please let us help you and the kids through this loss. Learn to lean on Jesus, as you already do. Only He will get you through this time. There are no words to express how saddened we feel for you in the loss of Jennifer. She was a gifted and very talented person who used those gifts for God's glory. She frequently asked me to keep my ears and eyes open for a job that would allow her to attend church on Sunday. She missed being there to worship with you. Take comfort in knowing that she is with the Lord and can worship all the time now. Our prayer is that God will lay his hand on you and comfort you until you meet again. “ We will never be able to put into words the sadness we feel with the loss of Jennifer. We pray for the Love and Grace of our Heavenly Father to embrace, guide and console each of you, both now, and in all the days to come.
Your family is a blessing to our church and Jennifer was a major part of this. Jennifer would ask at every occasion, "What can I do to help you"? She had a compassion for serving the Lord with her talent, and was eager to help me with our church's music program. It has been a blessing to have worship in song with her.
Her musical talent was truly a gift from God and she used that talent in the praise, worship, and uplifting of God in our church. For this I am thankful.
The short time that we knew her will be treasured for a lifetime. We love you all!##imported-begin##Jeff & Scarlet Batson##imported-end##
