“ Dear J. R. and Family,
I am so sorry to hear about the death of your precious son. I know what it is to lose a child - mine was 12 yrs old. This happened in 1984. I can only tell you that putting your hands in the hands of God is the only thing that got me thru it all. God has not asked us to do anything that He Himself has not done.
I am praying for your comfort and peace during this time. Contact me if I can help in any way.

“ When I heard the news of JR today my heart sank. JR and I danced together many years ago when we were both so young. When I saw him last year at the recital he glowed with excitement when he talked about his daughter and how she was dancing on the same floor we had danced many years before. I don't know her, but as a mother myself I could see the love in his eyes as he spoke of her. I hope she knows that he was very proud of her, and he will always be there in her heart.

“ I am still in shock over everything that has happened. I keep expecting to get a text or a call from you. To hear your voice say my name. I wish with every part of my being that you were still here with us. You were right (how often did you ever hear those words...lol), you know me better than anyone ever has and so you should know just how much I'm missing you and loving you right now. I will never ever forget every moment, good or bad, that we shared. They will forever be in my mind and my heart. And to answer your last question, JR, yes. If you could ask me again, the answer would be a million times yes. People don't really know what they have until they lose it, and my dear God, I know exactly what I lost and wish it wasn't so. I promise with all my heart that Erinity will always know she is loved. She will never forget her Daddy. She will always remember what a great Daddy she still has, one that will always be watching her and will always be proud. I pray every day that you hear my thoughts and know just how much I love you. You are missed by so many people. I don't think you can quite fathom how many lives you have touched and your absence is greatly painful.

“ JR, my heart is broken. Words cannot express the pain of losing you in my life. I loved you so much and I know you loved me. I wish I could've answered your call Friday night. I know what you were going through and wish we could have seen this through with God's help and strength. I wish I could have talked to you that night. I will always wonder if it would have made a difference. You were my best friend and my heart. Always there when I needed you. I wish I could have been there for you that day. I know how much you loved Erinity and she will get all the love she can get from all the people you touched in your life. You were the most generous, caring person I've ever known. And, as others have said, always had a smile on your face. You always put others first. Even when you yourself was hurting so badly. I will love you forever and cherish every memory of you and every special time we had together. I wish I could call you on the phone. I wish I could have said goodbye. I am praying for Erinity, Hazel and your family. I hope to see you one day in heaven with Jesus. And I know that if you are with Him, you are at peace. We will all miss him and want the rest of the family know that we love you with all of hearts. If there is anything that I can do big brother, please don't hesitate to ask. Erinity, know that your Dad loved you with all of his heart and that he will always be with you in your heart and precious memories. Trust in the Lord and he will see you through this. I have a calendar of quotes on my desk and today's quote is "Expect trouble as an inevitable part of life and repeat to yourself the most comforting word of all "This too, shall pass". “ Meeting you in 1997 online was the best thing that ever happened to me. Getting to meet you in person that New Years was even more incredible.

Although we could never have found a way to continue our relationship, as we were half a country apart and only 19, reconnecting on Facebook 13 yrs later, and still feeling as if we were 19, was a testament to what we felt all those years ago.

We were and will always be each others first and true loves. Only having 3 days of reconnection with you will never be enough, but I'm so grateful we at least had that short time.

I will love you always and forever...##imported-begin##Kelly Shrum##imported-end##

“ I met JR in my teens, back when we were all trying to grow up, and still just kids. We had many of the same friends, and I remember he was always such a happy-go-lucky fella, always friendly, always approachable, inclusive. In High school he continued to remain that friendly guy, confident, smiling, looking out for people. He even looked out for me a couple of times growing up, and I will never forget that. Williams family, know that JR has made a positive, lasting impact on the lives of SO many people. My God bless you, Erinity, the Williams family and those JR left behind.##imported-begin##Eric Cerda##imported-end##

“ My heart aches for JR's family and friends. I've known JR since we were kids. I've had some wonderful childhood memories of him and me. He was truly a light in this world who will be missed by all. The world lost a generous, thoughtful, humorous, and loving man. My thoughts and prayers are with his family and everyone who has had the blessing of knowing JR at some point in their lives who are trying to figure out this tragedy. Rest in peace my dear friend.##imported-begin##LaCole Hatfield##imported-end##

“ I first met JR in dance at a very young age. He is a part of many childhood memories and I watched him blossom into such an incredible dancer. I was so proud of him and what he had accomplished in his life. I watched him dance just recently in the Nutcracker and just felt so proud at that moment to have known him and have had the honor of dancing with him through the years. I was thankful for Facebook because we were able to reconnect recently and I again was just so happy to see him doing well. I don't understand this, I don't think anyone does. I wish I had been able to know him better as adults--but from those who knew him recently, he sounds as if he'd not changed a bit. I offer my sincerest condolences as I can't imagine the sorrow and heartache you must feel as my own heart is so heavy. Erinity, you don't know me, but I met you one day in Walmart and spoke with you and your dad. You are his legacy and you made him so proud. He didn't even have to say it, it was so obvious when he talked about you--he glowed. I pray for God's peace to be with you and all of your family.
