“ We became members of Saint Bart's in the early 70's. Being a smaller congregation it was made up of a few very dedicated and committed families and individuals to oversee the needs of the parishioners and balancing a budget to cover the needs of the church. Paul and Kay were truly leaders in their dedication and unrelenting faith. They had a large and beautiful family and their faith was shared in so many ways through their time, talents and gifts to Saint Bartholomew's Church. We will miss Kay's welcoming greeting and big smiles which she always shared. This picture is from Saint Bart's 1992 Directory and this is how I always remember seeing them in church. My condolences to their loved ones. We are not able to attend the serve but our thoughts are with you.

“ Kay and Paul were my godparents. I'll always fondly remember Thanksgiving at the Roggenkamp's as a kid and her famous Charlotte Russe for dessert. Deepest condolences to Sally, Jean, Kathy, and Mary.
