“ Leanne lived across the street from my dad for many many years. I would always see her out in the yard as I was coming and going, often rolling down the window to speak. She would tell me about trips that she had planned with her friends and then when she married Rick, the trips continued but they were now mostly with her loving husband. She was always ready to help. I'll never forget the year that my daughter and I were going to surprise my dad at Christmas time and paint his bedroom and change it up a little. Well it had come down to crunch time and there was no way we were going to finish before he was supposed to be home and I ran over and asked Leanne if she could come over and help us paint, without question she jumped right in. I'm certainly going to miss seeing her out in the yard. She always seemed so young and vibrant. She was just a cool lady and fun to talk to. She is with our Lord now and that should give us all comfort and peace to help everyone navigate through the tough times ahead.

Love,

“ Unfortunately I didn't get to meet LeeAnn in person until a few weeks ago but felt I knew her well vicariously through Rick. I know she was and forever will be in good hands and leaves a great legacy with the life she lived. She was a great teacher, cook, daughter, sister and wife.
