“ A life well lived. I am going to miss our long, late night coffee and conversations in the kitchen. I'll always remember my grandmother's life lessons like "it's not what you make...Its what you do with what you make". She showed all of us so much love and compassion. Being sure to remind us how blessed we are. She took pride in her family and would go out her way to make sure everyone was alright. She was a very special woman whom I will miss dearly. She is probably up there "dancing cheek to cheek" with my grandfather right now, I heard they were quite the dancers. I love you Meme. Rest in Peace...you deserve it. -Your Grandson, Pepper.
