So glad to see this. I was sick at the time and so sorry I did not get to attend. I have wonderful memories with my family with your. Jamie sitting up there in church by your mother and going home with y'all. Your family was always an important part in our life.

What lovely memories. I still remember the last time I spoke with Margie. It was sometime after my graduation as I was considering medical school and she encouraged me to follow my heart and in the footsteps of her family members in medicine. She shared with me some of the difficulties that they had, told me I shouldn't be discouraged and to follow my heart. She was such a vibrant and loving woman. I miss chatting with her and hearing about her children and grandchildren. I count myself lucky to have known her and to be related to those she raised up.
