“ You were my first best friend. We were seven. Over the years we played, laughed, shared secrets, betrayed each other, made up, grew up, and grew apart. Yet there remained in our hearts a special place for one another. On the few occasions we saw each other as adults the years melted away and we were seven again. You endured much hardship, toil, and pain, yet lifted the spirits of others with your keen sense of humor and love. You were devoted to your family and your God. I thank Him for blessing me with you as my friend.

“ Mary Glenn is my cousin. I have not known a more kind and loving person. Her courage during her long battle with cancer has been an example of how to face the darkest, most frightening moments in life with faith. I miss her. I will miss her laugh and wonderful personality.

I know that she is heaven with Edith and she is no longer suffering, God has made her whole again.

My love and sympathy to Herbert, Susan, Jonathan and Meredith.
