“ Amy, Charlie, and families-
Your mama was always good for 1000 laughs! I can still see her standing in the kitchen scrambling eggs for breakfast one morning using the spatula as a mic while singing alley oop to me for the 100th time.... Praying peace and comfort for all of you.
Amy, love you always

“ We didn't always get along when I got older but we both had forgiven each other. I remember her taking me horseback riding. I remember when we caught the field on fire and she came running out there to help put it out. I remember her playing her guitar, she was actually pretty good. RIP I love you!
