We are deeply saddened to hear about the homecoming of Walter. We had the pleasure of knowing him for a couple of years. It was hard watching as his health started to fail him. Maybe you can take comfort in looking at it like this:

God watched him as he suffered and knew he had his share. He gently closed his weary eyes and took him in His Care. God has him in His keeping, we have him in our hearts. His memory is our keepsake and with that we'll never part. God saw he was getting tired and recovery was not to be. So he put His arms around him and whispered, "Come with Me". With tearful eyes we watched him surrender and saw him fade away. Although we loved him dearly, we could not make him stay. A golden heart stop beating, hard working hands put to rest. God broke our hearts to prove us, He only takes the best.
